DESCRIPTION

The Perfect Couple is a reality dating show taking place inside a luxurious villa on a private Caribbean Island. For 52 episodes, 22 contestants (for 26 episodes the number of the contestants will be 18) will have the best days of their lives in a beach house with nine double rooms and an amazing suite.

But there is a trick! In this fancy beach house, there is not enough space for everyone. The contestants will have to compete in the Key Challenges and win in order to score the limited number of room keys. The winning contestants will pick their partners to enjoy their time in the house while the losing couple will be marginalized. Don't worry, there is always hope!

Contestants will get the chance to go on three dates with the key owners to convince them to switch their partners, leading the household into conflict and jealousy. After the winners will make their final decision, the losing contestants, who have to stay outside of the rooms, have to fight in an Elimination Duel to determine the one going home.

After 17 weeks, only 4 couples will make it to the finale, where they will play Elimination Games as couples. The winner will become "The Perfect Couple" and grab the grand prize.

PRODUCTION HUB

The production hub is already set on a private island near Cartagena, a city famous for its white beaches and turquoise water. The hub includes not only the beach house and the various spots for games but also a house for the crew with easy access to the mainland, greatly facilitating the shooting and production of the show.

VILLA

The place where the factual reality happens is a paradise beach house in the middle of the Caribbean, with its white sand beaches and warm blue waters. The house has a special suite (for the winner of the Key Game), and other regular rooms, which will be closed one by one, as the number of participants decreases in the house. The first night, all the rooms are open. The contestants can sleep anywhere they want. This way, they will get familiar with all the available rooms for which they will fight in the Key Games.

INITIAL GAME

In the pilot episode, before the contestants arrive at the house for the first time, they will face a special endurance challenge. The loser will be automatically eliminated.

DECK

A set built exclusively for ceremonial purposes such as couple selections, couple switches, nominations, eliminations and any other ceremony that reality requires.

KEY GAMES

Every other day, once per cycle, all the contestants will play a big game to win the suite and regular room keys to allow them to remain in the house. The winner of the suite key will get immunity for that cycle. The ones who are left keyless will try to seduce and charm the key owners so they won't be nominated for elimination.

KEY OWNERS & THE OTHERS

The “Suite Key Owner,” who is the winner of that game, will win immunity for that cycle. With a safe place in the house, the other key owners can secure the place of one more person by choosing them as their partners.

The contestants who place last in the Key Game and who do not win a key. They will try to charm the key owners. They will not have a safe place in the house until they are chosen in the “Couple Selection Ceremony.”

COUPLE SELECTION CEREMONY

The ceremony is in which the key owners choose their partners; whom they want to share their rooms with. During the cycles in which the participants are an even number, 2 contestants are left out as the “Loners.” During the cycles in which the participants are an odd number, 1 contestant is left out as the “Lonely.”

FINAL GAME

Only 4 contestants will make it to the end. They will face each other as couples in the final big challenge. The couple that wins the challenge will be named the “Perfect Couple” and they will win the main prize.

PARTY NIGHT

Once per cycle, contestants will have a party night in the house. It is the opportunity to create alliances or plan betrayals. These will be special moments in which contestants can free themselves from outdated values and taboos.

ROOM CLOSURE

One room will be closed down per cycle. The host will announce it during the opening ceremony of the Key Game.

ELIMINATION DUEL

Once per cycle, the loners and their condemned contestants will face off in an Elimination Duel. Whoever loses will be eliminated.

LONERS

The contestants that none of the key owners choose as partners. They don't have a place in any of the rooms of the house. They have to sleep in the house living room or at the beach. They will be up for elimination. They will also choose one of the "Others" to face in the Elimination duel, after which the loser will be eliminated.

SALVATION GAME

The 2 loners must select one couple, besides the residents of the suite, in the Condemnation ceremony to face off in the Salvation Game. The one, who wins the Game, will be safe from elimination. The other 3 contestants will go to the Elimination duel.

CONDEMNATION CEREMONY

The ceremony in which the Lonely or the Loners must select one of the Others to face in the Elimination Duel. The condemned cannot be the suite's key owner's partner.

SACRIFICE

Any key owner can sacrifice himself and take the place of their partner who is chosen as "the condemned" to fight in the Elimination Duel.

LONELY & DATES

Any key owner can sacrifice himself and take the place of their partner who is chosen as “the condemned” to fight in the Elimination Duel.

The Lonely will have the opportunity to invite some of the key owners to a private date. This will be the perfect opportunity to persuade the owner to switch his or her couple selection. It is his/her last chance to be saved from elimination.

COUPLE SWITCH CEREMONY

The ceremony, which takes place after the dates, where the key owners choose their final partners. They can choose to remain with the same partner or, if the Lonely managed to charm them, they can alter their previous choices and choose to share their room with their new mate.

The person who is not elected in the Couple Switch Ceremony will face elimination. The unchosen contestants become the nominees.

CONDEMNATION CEREMONY

The Nominee must select one of the Others, besides the couple staying at the suite and any of the key owners, to face in an Elimination Duel. Whoever loses the duel will be eliminated.
