SYNOPSIS:	Ömer is a police commissioner, who is planning to propose to his girlfriend Sibel. Elif is a young designer living in Rome, who came to Istanbul to spend her birthday with her family. One night, these two strangers meet when Ömer's fiancée and Elif's father are found murdered in the same car. Ömer cannot make sense of why his fiancée was together with Elif's father. After the shocking death of his fiancée and the accusation of his love cheating on him, Ömer decides to solve the mystery behind these murders. While still grieving her father's death, Elif is threatened by a mafia named Tayyar in order to find stolen diamonds that are millions of dollars worth in order to pay her father's debts. She realizes that her father has been involved in the dirty money market and gets involved in his business in order to find out the murderer of her father. She comes across police commissioner Ömer during her attempt of laundering money. When Elif's little sister Nilüfer is missing, Ömer agrees to help Elif despite her criminal acts. Although Ömer cannot understand Elif's acts of money laundering, he realizes that he has been falling in love with her. Sami, Ömer's boss, warns him that he should stay distant from Elif and focus on solving the murder case. Despite these warnings, Ömer acts irresponsibly and gets suspended from being a police commissioner. Meanwhile, Tayyar seeks to get his diamonds back from Elif and engages in insidious plans with his son Metin. After Ömer and Elif figure out that Tayyar is the murderer that changed their lives forever, they ensure that he gets prosecuted. However, the judge only sentences him to seven years in prison despite his long criminal record. Over time, Ömer and Elif realize that they are purely in love with each other despite the unfortunate events they have been experiencing.
