SYNOPSIS:	In a captivating reimagining of Shakespeare's timeless drama "Hamlet," this story unfolds with a unique twist: Hamlet is portrayed as a woman. Set against the backdrop of a haunting event in Istanbul's Buyukada, the largest of the Prince's Islands, where 81 horses are mysteriously buried in a single night, the tale begins with a dark deed. Ahmet, the owner of the horses, meets a grim fate, murdered by his own brother Kadir. Driven by greed, Kadir stages the scene to make it appear as though Ahmet's death was a tragic accident caused by a horse's kick, all to claim Ahmet's wealth for himself. At the heart of this narrative is Hazar, Ahmet's daughter, who refuses to accept the fabricated story of her father's accidental death. Sensing the foul play at work, Hazar embarks on a quest for vengeance, determined to expose the true perpetrator of her father's murder. To mask her intentions and gather evidence against her uncle, Hazar adopts a guise of insanity. Her intricate plan is a dangerous dance on the edge of reality and illusion, where every move is calculated to bring her closer to the truth and justice for her father. As Hazar delves deeper into her investigation, the lines between reality and dreams blur, creating a suspenseful ambiguity that grips the audience. The storytelling masterfully intertwines the elements of classic tragedy with modern-day intrigue, leading to an inevitable confrontation where the truth about Ahmet's murder is finally uncovered. Through Hazar's unwavering resolve and cunning strategy, the story culminates in a dramatic revelation, offering a fresh and compelling take on the eternal themes of betrayal, revenge, and the quest for justice.
