SYNOPSIS:	The tragic loss of Sinem in a terrorist attack in Istanbul deeply shakes her lover, Sinan's life. With the devastating news, Sinan gradually loses his connection to reality. Clinging to memories of Sinem, he oscillates on an indistinguishable line between her and himself; during this process, he is caught in an endless cycle beyond time and space. Living through destruction and rebirth every day, Sinan seeks ways to escape this infinite loop and reach Sinem. For Sinan, the flow of time has merged, days and nights blend together, all filled with the absence of Sinem. Despite losing his grip on reality, a glimmer of hope emerges within Sinan. This hope is the possibility of reuniting with Sinem. The desire to reach her pulls Sinan out of the cycle of surrender and struggle, turning into a symbol of rebirth. Sinan's inner journey revolves around themes of love, grief, hope, and rebirth. His deep connection to Sinem and the aspiration to reunite with her drives him on a quest that transcends time and space. The dream of reuniting with Sinem beyond the line guides him, and this journey signifies both salvation and a rebirth for Sinan. His story presents a poignant example of how loss and hope can be reshaped by the power of love.
