SYNOPSIS:	Zeynep is a university student in her early twenties, studying Fashion Design. During the application process, she accidentally selected the non-scholarship option instead of the scholarship one, so she goes to the home of Beril, one of the most important fashion designers in Turkey and her biggest idol, to request a scholarship. She learns that interviews for the children's new nanny are being conducted that day. Thinking that she could cover her tuition with the nanny's salary, Zeynep quickly prepares her CV and applies for the job. While waiting for the face-to-face interviews, she accidentally gets involved in small adventures with the children and, due to their persistent requests, manages to become the new nanny. The parents have an important request from Zeynep. Since she will be working full-time, they want her to focus all her energy on the job, with no secondary commitments such as school. To get the job, Zeynep is forced to lie, and while dealing with the six children in the house, she secretly tries to manage her schoolwork. Taking care of the six children, each with their own unique characteristics, turns out to be both harder and more fun than she expected.
