SYNOPSIS:	In the Black Sea region, two powerful families, the Alazlıs and the Yenicelis, have been locked in a bitter feud for years. Their rivalry is reignited when Barva, the son of the Yeniceli family, runs away with Nazlı, the daughter of the Alazlıs, and marries her. In retaliation, Hafize, the formidable head of the Alazlı family, demands that Bahar, the young daughter of the Yenicelis, marry into her family. Determined to save her sister from this forced marriage, Zeyşan returns to the Black Sea after years in Istanbul and sacrifices herself by taking Bahar's place. But when she arrives at the wedding ceremony, the man waiting for her is not the one she expected it is Kuzey. What Zeyşan does not realize is that Kuzey was once her closest and most trusted childhood companion. As their arranged marriage unfolds amid the hostility between their families, an unexpected and powerful love begins to grow between them. Meanwhile, long-buried secrets, unfinished love stories, and a feud passed down through generations rise to the surface once again. Zeyşan and Kuzey's love will become a test capable of changing not only their own future, but the fate of both families.
